BURLEY — Richard Paynor, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans, Burley, and a companion, Kapi Van Beek, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Van Beek, Caldwell, saved the life of 8-year-old Earleen Curry Wednesday afternoon after her playmate, Judy Ann Roberts, drowned in the Boise River at Caldwell.

The body was found lodged against an irrigation ditch flood gate from the Boise River Friday afternoon.

The two youths were horseback riding about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday along Boise River when they heard the voices of the girls. At first, they sounded as if they were playing in the water, but as the youths listened, they sounded more like cries for help.

Julius Klein Will Testify At Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julius Klein, a high-pressure public relations man with a liking for testimonials from senators, is to testify Tuesday at a Senate hearing on misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. — but Dodd won't hear him.

Dodd scheduled a hearing on narcotic rehabilitation legislation by the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, he heads at the same time that Klein is to testify before the ethics committee.

Aids of Dodd said he intends to preside at the subcommittee hearing. During all the previous hearings of the ethics committee Dodd was present with his lawyers and closely followed the testimony.

The hearings were recessed June 27 to await Klein's return from Germany. When he arrived in New York by ship Wednesday, he said he was looking forward to the opportunity to appear and testify under oath.

"I will answer any question put to me," said Klein, 64, owner of a Chicago public relations firm and a registered agent for West German business interests.

The record of the hearing thus far shows that Klein often solicited, and frequently received, favorable personal estimates from senators.

Safe Boating Rules Listed by Red Cross Water Safety Aide

Only half of the 40 million water learn how to swim in this summer know how to swim.

Ague listed three basic rules of the water. When boats are meeting in, or nearby in a head-on position, each should keep to the right when boats are in a crossing situation the boat on the right has the right of way.

Another rule of the "road" is the requirement for power boats to give way to manually propelled or sailboats unless the sailboat is overtaking a power boat. Small sailboats, when sailing in a channel, should give way to power boats which cannot operate outside the channel.

Hague said weak swimmers or persons who cannot swim should wear life jackets at all times when on the water in small boats. All occupants in a boat should wear life jackets when hazardous weather conditions are encountered.

Hague said, "Don't overboard, and keep passengers down to a safe number."

Other rules are find out from a boat dealer what horsepower motor is best for the boat; don't overpower a boat; don't smoke while refueling; don't let passengers in a small boat stand up or sit on the gunwales while under way, and equip your boat with essential gear. A motor, oars, a boat hook, extra line.

APPROVES BUDGET
MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—The Idaho Pea and Lentil Commission reported today it has approved a budget of $5,000 for research at the University of Idaho on problems of yield, quality and disease.

Commission Chairman Iver Longteig of Craigmont said another $3,000 was approved to retain Mrs. Ella Nijala as home economist consultant to direct publicity for another year.

Longteig said the action was taken at a commission meeting at which he was re-elected chairman. Eugene Thompson of Moscow was elected vice chairman and Harry Graser of Moscow was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

STRIKE ENDS
POST FALLS, Idaho (AP)—A strike involving 100 workers at the Clare Pendar electrical company plant here ended Saturday.

Union members had picketed the plant since Thursday. The union claimed Clare Pendar had failed to live up to an agreement on wage increases.

Spokesmen at the firm called the strike illegal; one called some of the picketers "professional goons." Ron Gault, industrial engineering manager, said employees who remained on the job received threatening phone calls, and he was threatened as he crossed picket lines.

STATION SUE
CALDWELL, (AP)—A Nampa radio station is being sued for $30,000.

Dr. J. R. Farber of Nampa and his brother, Robert L. Farber, of Payette, filed the suit in Seventh District Court in Caldwell Friday.

They alleged that an editorial broadcast by KFXD June 29-30 contained defamatory remarks. The station said the editorial dealt with a lot tossed by the brothers but did not mention their names.

APPEARANCE SET
POCATELLO, (AP)—Fifth District Judge Oliver has ordered John Dee Larsen, Pocatello, to appear in court at 10 a.m. Monday for the formal execution of the sentence for the 1962 slaying of Vicki Jo Quinn, Pocatello teenager.

The judge set Monday's proceedings late Saturday afternoon after receiving the Idaho Supreme Court's official notice that it had turned down an application for a release.

Larsen, 33, has been in the county jail here more than two years.

CANDIDATE SPEAKS
MERIDIAN, Idaho (AP)—Democrat Charles Herndon, Salmon, said Saturday he believes each of his fellow gubernatorial candidates "should place in public record his achievements in the fields of administration and business."

"When you are seeking to administer a business which handles several hundred million dollars of public funds annually," he said, "I believe you should have an adequate record of business success."

Herndon told a Democratic audience he has been successful in various fields, including law, a hotel and a cattle ranch.

RECEIVE AWARD
POCATELLO, (AP)—Two Idaho State University Pharmacy professors have been awarded an Idaho Heart Association grant to begin research on high blood pressure.

Dr. Albert I. Edlin and Dr. Robert D. Nelson have been awarded $14,500 grant for the first year of the study.

They said they plan to induce hypertension in dogs surgically and examine changes such as in blood pressure, amount of blood pumped by the heart, retarding resistance to blood flow and blood flow to the kidneys.

MAN DIES
BOISE, (AP)—A 61-year-old Garden City man died today of injuries suffered in a collision involving three vehicles and a trailer late Friday on the Interstate freeway five miles east of Boise.

State police identified him as Bill Bargman, a passenger in a pickup driven by Lewis Edles, 55, of Boise that was pulling a trailer toward Boise.

Police say a car driven by Roger C. Jones, 21, of Boise struck the trailer at high speed from the rear and both vehicles went across the freeway onto oncoming lanes where they collided with a third vehicle. The driver of the oncoming car was George Eichholz, 57, of Glenns Ferry.

Mental Health Needs Noted By Candidate

Douglas Kramer, candidate for state senator, said today: "The field of mental health is a great deal more attention in Magic Valley specifically and Idaho generally. Idaho has three mental health centers located at Lewiston, Boise and Blackfoot, but the field has barely been scratched. The 1965 Legislature passed the Community Mental Health Center Act to provide a foundation for expansion of the vital service, but little has been accomplished."

"Specifically, mental health work has to be related to Idaho's penal system. Until we have adequate mental health centers covering the entire state, we will continue to free persons who have been convicted of a variety of crimes without any assurance they won't resume preying on society."

Kramer said, "Before a prisoner is released, from either a city or county jail or from the state prison, he should be carefully examined and evaluated to determine if he will continue to be a threat to society."

"Mental health evaluation indicates a prisoner is a risk should be delayed pending adequate treatment. We just can't continue to expose society to unrepentant and unrehabilitated murderers, robbers and yes, even forgers."

Kramer concluded, "the mass murder in Chicago tonight should be message enough for us to seriously think about the problem."

Government Reduces High Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has reduced maximum interest rates that some 13,500 U.S. banks may pay on time deposits in an attempt to lessen the competitive war between banks, savings and loans associations.

The Federal Reserve board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation reduced Friday the rate from 5 1/2 to 5 percent on time deposits of 90 days or more that have more than one maturity date. On similar deposits of less than 90 days, the maximum interest rate was reduced to 4 percent.

The reserve board supervised 6,200 banks, including all national banks and those insured state banks which are Federal Reserve members.

The board and the FDIC said the new rates will take effect Wednesday. However, the action will not affect certificates of deposits, bank savings bonds and other types of time deposits purchased prior to the order.

The Federal Reserve Board also asked Congress to give it the FDIC and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board more authority to govern the interest rate practices of banks and savings and loan associations.

Demolition Project Set for Former Heyburn State Bank

HEYBURN—One of the famous old landmarks, the former Heyburn State Bank, is being torn down this week. Mac's Market is remodeling and expanding on the property.

The building, which has been vacant for several years, and an apartment building in the rear, have been purchased by Ralph McCombs, Don McCombs and Dale McCombs, from Dean Croft and Noel Croft.

Some residents have referred to the landmark building as a "jinx" because every business it housed eventually failed.

A portion of this building was first built along the railroad tracks and other establishments about 1905. It later was moved to the present location where it survived the depression and many other difficulties and after 60 years is still yielding a service to the community.

The McCombs brothers are extending the building to the south 18 feet to give 1,050 square feet of additional floor space. The east entrance which has served the public 60 years will be closed and new entrances made on the north and south sides. Parking area on the north and south sides will be blacktopped.

Special features for the business will include a newly developed refrigeration idea which is currently being introduced in Salt Lake City and Provo. On the southeast corner of the property will be a cut-rate gasomatic unit.

The bank building, constructed in about 1910, was one of the first buildings in Heyburn to be constructed of brick from the former Heyburn-Brick Co. The masons took special effort to design the structure in a fashion which was considered quite unique at that time.

Roy Skinner, current Heyburn Police Judge, remembers the building was considered one of the most beautiful features in the early day business district.

It was constructed of a new type brick, known as white brick, which features curvatures on the exterior.

The interior walls still portray a faint ghost of the former banking concern. The walls are Apparently businessmen felt it was too much trouble to remodel because it stood dormant for many years. Bank building owners have included James Still, Michael Leonard, Parley Croft and finally Dean Croft and Noel Croft.

A lasting feature, the building will find hard to lose, is the old concrete vault, which still is intact. The new owners are puzzled as to how they will dispose of it.

The old vault, which had a steel door, was once broken in. The robbers blasted open the door.

The bank was owned and operated by Frank Snyder, now 84, and a resident of Boise.

He opened the banking firm in 1906 in a small frame building which was replaced by the brick structure.

During the later years of operation, Snyder was assisted in business by the late J. J. Connor, who served as vice president. The late Ben Sills was among the others who held stock in the bank.

The bank closed during the depression as did the other banks except the Albion Bank. According to J. A. Handy, it remained open because it contained state deposits for the operation of state and teacher salaries for the Albion State Normal College.

Other businesses tried to use the building, but failed. Judge Skinner said this could have been because of the general building construction. He said, "It wasn't much of a building for any other business and did not suit purposes other than banking." The high ceiling made it hard to heat and the large concrete vault was inconvenient.

World Food Crisis Might Have Arrived

ROME (AP)—That world hunger crisis, posing the gravest threat mankind has known, may already be with us. This is the view of some international experts, while others see no sure way of avoiding disaster within the next 30 years as the world's population doubles.

A study by a commission of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization warned this month: "This world is on the threshold of the worst famine in its history."

FAO experts, who desperately seek a solution, have begun only recently to use the words hunger crisis and warn that it is near.

"Indeed," Prof. Gunnar Myrdal, Swedish economist, told a FAO land reform conference, "a future historian may place the beginning of the hunger crisis at a point already past."

Dr. B. R. Sen, director general of FAO, says that unless there is a revolution soon in agriculture "famines and civil disorders will take a heavy toll of human life" in two-thirds of the inhabited world.

He cites the case of India. But even such a large producing country as the Soviet Union became an importer of millions of tons of wheat because of the single bad crop year of 1963. The Soviet Union now bids against Red China on the world grain market to try to rebuild its reserves.

Ex-T.F. Man Threatened At Salmon

SALMON — Walter E. Miller, chief of Salmon police, said that for the past two weeks City Officer Merrill E. Heath, formerly of Twin Falls, has been getting phone calls threatening him and his family with death and bodily harm.

On July 8, the caller told Heath he had one more day to go. About 2 a.m. July 9 while Heath was driving east on Main Street in a city police car, Heath was shot at with a rifle from ambush, Chief Miller said.

On the afternoon of July 9, Officer Heath received another phone call saying, "Tonight I won't miss."

About 3:05 a.m. on July 10, Heath observed a man carrying a rifle crossing Terrace St. No. and yelled for him to stop. The man put the rifle to his shoulder pointing it at Heath, Chief Miller said.

Heath then shot at him. The man with the rifle turned and ran. Other officers converged on the area but a search failed to locate anyone.

Chief Miller said the man with the rifle got away when police had to stop the search to remove a carload of curious teenagers who rushed into the area.

On the morning of July 11, Heath's front door had penciled on it, "You dirty no good—I will get you for shooting at me."

Gwartney said the police have a pretty good idea who may be doing the threatening, but that sufficient information has not been obtained for an arrest.

Heath, 25, came to Salmon from Twin Falls on March 1 following his being hired as a city officer. He works the night shift. Officers said they were at a loss as to why Heath in particular is the object of the threats.

Hospital in Kellogg Might Have to Close

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — West Shoshone General Hospital faces a shutdown if 22 nurses — the hospital's entire nursing staff — carry out threats to resign Aug. 1.

Letters of resignation were submitted by the nurses Friday, asking for raises to $425 a month. That figure is recommended by the Idaho State Nurses Association.

The hospital board met Friday night to discuss the wage raise demands.

Nurses are now paid $340 a month. They have rejected a raise to $350 a month.

Mrs. Fabiola Torrison, hospital administrator, expressed confidence an agreement would be made in the next few days. But she conceded the hospital would have to close if the nurses leave.

A statement issued by the State Nurses Association Friday expressed support to the nurses for resigning.

Wrong Date

Dedication of the Joe Marshall Potato Research Center at the University of Idaho Branch Agricultural Experiment Station in Aberdeen will be held this coming Friday, July 22, and not last Friday as reported in last week's Farm and Ranch section of the Times-News.

Ernest W. Hartung, University of Idaho President, will make the dedication address and Eldon W. Smith, Rexburg, secretary of the Idaho University Board of Regents, will accept the $375,000 building.

The building is named in honor of Joe Marshall, Idaho's late "Potato King," who lived east of Twin Falls and farmed large potato acreages in Magic Valley for more than 40 years. He was instrumental in Idaho's becoming the nation's leading producer and processor of potatoes.

Class Members Meet for First Time in 20 Years

By NORMA HERZINGER

"Do you remember when . . ." was the only cue line needed to renew old acquaintances at a recent class reunion at the Twin Falls Elks Lodge. This impromptu remark stimulated memories of guests and inspired many delightful conversations.

Fellow students, many of them meeting for the first time in 20 years, represented the Twin Falls High School class of 1946. This was the first reunion hosted by the group and was attended by approximately 100 couples.

The event began with a social hour at 7 p.m., followed by a smorgasbord dinner at 8 p.m., catered by Leo Soran. After dinner the group danced to the music of Jimmy Linn's "The Holiday Four" from Sun Valley. The tables were appropriately decorated with blue and white pompons and centered with Bruin bears and banners featuring "The Class of '46" written in gold letters.

Harry Turner served as master of ceremonies for the gathering and awarded prizes to deserving classmates. Mrs. Jerry (Mary Bankhead) Haug accepted a prize for having two grandchildren and Mrs. Wilson T. (Elaine Babbet) Harper received a prize for having the youngest child, only five weeks old. Craig Bracken, Cincinnati, Ohio, won the prize for having traveled the farthest distance to attend the reunion and Donald Hotcher and Richard Kevan were awarded prizes for having the least amount of hair. The prizes for having the largest family went to James Perkins, who is the proud father of nine children.

Many outstanding and successful individuals are accredited to the 1946 class, among them John Hughes, professor at Northwestern University. Special recognition was given to Professor Hughes for a book he recently authored and had published entitled, "The Viol Feat."

A special tribute was given in memory of Fred Butler, Mrs. Ruth Danner McClure, Mrs. Darlene Young Brantley, Mrs. Joyce Drown Stanger and Helen Miller.

A family picnic was held the following day at Harmon Park to enable fellow classmates to meet and become acquainted with the complete family of each graduate.

Two-way MAGIC

No need to hunt... for if you have a definite feeling about sports clothes, if you know when a jacket fits right, a skirt sits well, when a coat has balance and pants a good gait, if you can spot a spirited shirt and know how to wear it, can judge a cloth with character and tell when it has been well handled, you will find that Glen of Michigan's Hunt Club is the end of the chase.

Lois Mueller Is Bride of V. E. Anderson

FILER — Peace Lutheran Church was the setting for the June 19 candlelight wedding which united in marriage Lois Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mueller, Filer, and Virgil E. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, King Hill.

Rev. T. J. Johnston officiated at the double ring rites before the altar background of lighted tapers and gold vases holding pink and white flowers, and white baskets of pink gladioli. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of peau du sole featuring a scooped neckline with pearl applique, long sleeves and a detachable train fastened with a self bow. The hemline was enhanced with applied flowers. The gown was designed and made by the bride's mother.

The bride's shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of white flowers. She wore a diamond pendant, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses enwined with silver and white streamers. Mrs. Arlene Gregg, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Dorothy Estep, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Christy Gregg, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids wore light-colored dresses and carried a white basket filled with pink petals.

Donald Anderson, Twin Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Marvin Anderson, Twin Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. Vern Jacobson and Melvin Mueller, brother of the bride, lighted the candles and ushered. Larry Jacobson, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a satin pillow.

Nancy Pennington registered the guests and gifts were displayed by Marilyn Schroeder, Mrs. Martin Anderson, Mrs. Donald Anderson, Janette Thaele and Dorothy Ulrich. Giftbearers were Lonnie Thaele, Steve Thaele and Dennis Koshelak, all cousins of the bride.

The refreshment tables were covered with lace cloths over pink. One table was centered with a four-tiered square wedding cake decorated with pink roses and silver leaves and topped with a Christogram ornament. Heart-shaped cakes bearing the names of the bride and groom flanked the large cake. Mrs. Reuben Lerman made the cakes.

Mrs. Willard Thaele, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Irvin Eilers served cake. Mrs. Oscar Thaele poured punch and Mrs. Laverna Lampe, aunt of the bride, served coffee.

Guests were seated at tables centered with arrangements of roses in bud vases, with tiny nosegays and orange blossoms at the bases. Members of Peace Guild assisted with serving.

Wedding guests attended from Filer, Rupert, Wendell, Kimberly, Twin Falls, King and Everett, Wash.

Class Members Convene for First Reunion

An interesting sidelight of the reunion featured a May 12, 1946, issue of the Brain, which was distributed to class members. It seems that Dr. James Spafford had slipped the original copy of the Brain in his school annual in 1946.

This annual was packed in a trunk and traveled with him during his medical study years, first to New Mexico, back to Idaho, on to Illinois and then back to Idaho. He was here then, pleased when he found the old publication tucked away safely when he began glancing through his annual prior to the reunion. When the committee heard of his discovery they decided to make copies of the paper for each class member to add to the reminiscing during the gathering.

Preparations for a 20-year class reunion are not few and are not completed overnight. Plans for this anticipated event began exactly one year ago, with Ted Ryan as general chairman.

An undertaking of this size requires not only the able guidance of a diligent chairman, but the many hours of assistance by faithful co-chairmen. Contesting a full roster of class members who reside from around the world is a tremendous task in itself, to say nothing of the countless other necessary preparations.

Co-chairmen assisting Ryan include Dr. Spafford and Perkins, finance; Mrs. Bliss (Mary Hader) Hader, Owen (Dorothy Gerber) Rowe, Mrs. Jerry (Mary Bankhead) Harg and Mrs. Inga Van Audenland Mahr, correspondence; Mrs. Dale (Thelma Hull) Hallowell, Kierulff, and registration; South Ward, bulletin board, and Robert and Olive (Smith) Pettigrove, memory booklets. Trueman Dief was in charge of arrangements for the social and dance; Norman Showalter, pictures; Turner, program; Mrs. Gordon L. Valen, Arrington, Cruckett, publicity; Everett Norris, prizes; Webb, Malone, picnic; Mrs. Kay (Nellie Morfitt) Hays and Lee (Dorothy Young) Thompson, decorations, assisted by Mrs. Paul (Edna Carlson) Mosley, Mrs. Paul (Elaine Poppo) Carlson and Mrs. Speck (Ann Madron) Reynolds.

Molybdenum Rollback Show Price Guidelines Not Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—The Johnson administration flexed its muscles again this week and indicated its anti-inflationary wage-price guidelines were not dead.

It forced the molybdenum industry to rollback 8 percent of its prices, announced only last week. Molybdenum is a key ingredient in the making of high grade steel.

Some businessmen, lured by the quiet since the aluminum and copper price rollbacks last in January, were surprised.

But Gerald Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, called the rollback "an act of industrial statesmanship."

The administration's effort to hold the line on prices and costs has been receiving from thousands of business enterprises throughout the country.

Federal officials also took a hand in the negotiations to end the strike against five major airlines.

The strike grounded more than 60 percent of the traffic on the nation's trunk routes, costing the airlines $7 million a day during the peak travel season.

The nation's hotel and resort operators, airlines, businessmen, electrical manufacturers waiting for parts, lobster divers in Boston and flower growers in California felt the pinch as passengers and air freight were curtailed.

Checks normally flown to Paris, London and other European cities were delayed.

Prices declined last week and 33,400 year; prices barrows and gilts declined several weeks ago.

Stock Market Has Decline During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Concern about stiff interest rates and the dragging on hostilities in Viet Nam accompanied a stock market decline last week.

As U. S. Treasury bonds slipped to their lowest prices in 40 years and the general run of highest rates advanced to their highest levels in a generation, stocks reacted.

The stock market is finding it hard to live with the money market, said one analyst.

The British bank rate was raised to 7 percent from 6 percent Thursday and Wall Street feared the next step would be an advance in the discount rate.

The Federal Reserve Board, the "Fed," however, did not take such action last week. Even if it did, analysts said, it would not be a "surprise" action taken by the banks.

The boost in the British bank rate was well anticipated and the rate actually rose after it became apparent prices of were not particularly affected by the move. It was a question of getting bad news out of the way.

The Viet Nam situation did not play a distinct role. It depressed stocks when Defense Secretary Robert McNamara said he saw nothing to lend him to hope for an early end of the war and announced he was cutting back outlays for air units and reviewing proposals for other kinds of military equipment.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week declined 4.88 to 308.36.

The Associated Press average of 30 stocks fell 3.0 to 320.8. Both averages enjoyed a good rise in the previous week.

Volume for the week was 29,012,198 shares compared with 24,860,710 for the four-day trading week previous, cut short by the July 4 holiday.

Of 2,573 issues traded during the week, 794 fell and 624 rose.

Of 39 U. S. government issues traded, one was up and 38 were down. Seasoned corporate bonds declined more sharply than other sectors of the corporate market.

Stock Market Has Decline During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The grain futures market experienced a period of buying and selling last week and finished with good gains for all commodities.

Price changes in soybeans ran the limit of 10 cents for a single day. Corn, however, frequently and quickly recovered the sharp losses of the previous week (ranged to more than 20 cents a bushel) and ended the week with a record of 97.2 million bushels for a single day's volume.

At the close of the market on Thursday, the open interest had climbed to 288.5 million bushels. Until recently, the record had been 262.1 million in April, 1962.

Although weather was the major influence in the market throughout the week, a government announcement on Thursday that it had suspended sales of surplus corn for domestic use, and that grain would be sold in a mild bullish influence on Friday.

Nearly every contract on the exchange hit season highs one or more times during the week.

At the end of the week, wheat was 4 to 5 1/2 cents a bushel higher than a week ago, July 1, 1966, corn 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents higher, soybeans 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents higher, and oats 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents higher, July 1, 1966.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Johnson administration flexed its muscles again this week and indicated its anti-inflationary wage-price guidelines were not dead.

It forced the molybdenum industry to rollback 8 percent of its prices, announced only last week. Molybdenum is a key ingredient in the making of high grade steel.

Some businessmen, lured by the quiet since the aluminum and copper price rollbacks last in January, were surprised.

But Gerald Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, called the rollback "an act of industrial statesmanship."

The administration's effort to hold the line on prices and costs has been receiving from thousands of business enterprises throughout the country.

Federal officials also took a hand in the negotiations to end the strike against five major airlines.

The strike grounded more than 60 percent of the traffic on the nation's trunk routes, costing the airlines $7 million a day during the peak travel season.

The nation's hotel and resort operators, airlines, businessmen, electrical manufacturers waiting for parts, lobster divers in Boston and flower growers in California felt the pinch as passengers and air freight were curtailed.

Checks normally flown to Paris, London and other European cities were delayed.

Prices declined last week and 33,400 year; prices barrows and gilts declined several weeks ago.

Speeders, Use Caution, Horseback Rider Pleads

Editor, Times-News:

I wish to thank the large number of people who drive with caution when approaching riders on horseback. We really appreciate your slowing down.

For the few who risk their own lives, our lives and our horses' lives with their excessive speed, may I please explain a few things?

Do you, Mr. Speeder, know that it takes quite a lot of riding to get a horse trained well enough for an inexperienced rider? Getting them to stop kicking and bucking does not mean the job is finished. They often are not used to the sound of a jump out from under you at the highest noise or movement.

Now let's put the inexperienced rider on them after they have been well trained. A horse is very headstrong. Unless he knows the rider is the boss, he will misbehave in various ways. He won't usually back up, but he has numerous other ways of acting up. Of course a speeding vehicle does not help a new rider. You should be able to understand that, Mr. Speeder.

Now, shall we consider the many children who ride horses? Many of them are very good riders. However, they have friends who are not. Please spare the children, Mr. Speeder. Last, but not least, Mr. Speeder, how about yourself? Have you stopped and thought what would happen if you hit a horse? Nine times out of ten you would be killed, the horse would be killed, the rider would be killed, or perhaps a group of riders and horses and that beautiful speedy car that you drive would be demolished.

You just ask someone who has lived through hitting a big deer. A horse is much bigger, usually, unless it is one of the Shetlands.

I called the sheriff's office and learned that drivers who pass horse riders without due caution can be cited for reckless driving. Horses and riders are permitted on the roads just the same as motor traffic. We have to obey the stop signs and rules, too.

Please, Mr. Speeder, slow down and value our lives and horses.

Mortgage Payment, Water Bill Are Identical Sums

Editor, Times-News:

While writing this check to pay my monthly bills and obligations I made an amusing error. I picked up a post card statement, looked at the amount and wrote on the "Use Tax" imposed in my water bill to pay off the recent General Obligation Bond issue to pay for a general city water department which is a general Twin Falls city asset.

This is strictly the workings of our City Commission and the City Committee for Water, charged by the City Commissioners to promote. (Promote what?)

Oh, well, there are only about 194 more years to go. Why worry?

Lack of Respect For Flag in T.F. Called Disgrace

Editor, Times-News:

As we drove down the streets of Twin Falls on the Fourth of July I couldn't help but notice the flag.

Don't the people of Twin Falls respect the American flag anymore?

I never seen such dirty and wrinkled flags in my life.

I had company from California and they remarked what a disgrace it was to display the American flag in such a manner.

I hope whoever is responsible will do better next time. The House passed the sales tax act by a vote of 48 to 30.

Now comes the payoff. On March 3, 1965, the Senate killed the tax bill by a vote of 20 to 24. Voting for the bill were 15 Republicans and 5 Democrats; against were 10 Republicans and 14 Democrats. Through some parliamentary shenanigans by President Pro Tempore Jack M. Murphy, the Republican controlled Senate was able to bring the bill again to a vote.

This time the bill was passed by a vote of 26 to 18. Voting for the bill were 20 Republicans and 6 Democrats; voting against were 8 Republicans and 13 Democrats.

In eight days the corporation lobbyists or others were able to coerce, or otherwise change the minds of the senators. Six senators were Dick Eger (D), Vard Meadows, Harry Harn, Jack Murphy, Herbert Winters and Walter Yarborough, all Republicans.

These six will go down in the annals of Idaho legislature as the "Benedict Arnolds." Some of them have the audacity to call to offer themselves as candidates again this year.

Writer Sees Shenanigans In Passage of Sales Tax

Editor, Times-News:

As the late Gov. Alfred P. Smith said during the 1924 presidential campaign, "Let's look at the records" on how Gov. Smylie and his Republican legislature enacted the sales tax.

Rep. Arvil Miller, chairman, Idaho House Taxation Committee, after being brainwashed by lobbyists and lawyers of corporations and other special interest groups, closed the hearings to the common man and abandoned public hearings throughout the state.

Arvil and his lobbyist friends were afraid to have the opposition come before the committee, because some of his committee members may have a "heart" instead of "gall."

Evidently the lobbyists drew a mental picture for the representatives of the deteriorating school conditions and the pauper wages for our teachers. I have seen some of the legislators on the verge of tears over the deplorable Idaho school conditions.

The lobbyists picked the school system because our children are our most precious possession. How many teachers' salaries were increased $2,500 at one jump, as some of our politicians would have us believe.

The legislature could have enacted a more equitable sales tax, without taxing the necessities of life.

Twin Falls Man Deplores Criticism of Water Board

Editor, Times-News:

The criticism of the Idaho Water Resources Board by politicians without constructive proposals is not helping the drought problem of the Salmon-trail area and other areas that need water.

I am most disturbed at politicians who are issuing criticisms of the Idaho Water Resources Board.

We should not be criticizing the board but should be supporting it in every manner possible to solve the water problems of Idaho.

I am an engineer so I do not know what reclamation projects threaten to soar for Arvid. I would demand that you check your needs carefully and set aside a sum for a rainy day.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — You should be able to gain your own ends today without arousing jealousy in others. Tact is the key.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — It is the demonstrative Gemini who gets his own way today. Let others know how you feel about them and their ideas and plans.

U.S. Cops Five of Nine Swim Events; Russian Girl Sets World Record

MOSCOW (AP) — United States swimmers won five of the nine events contested Saturday in the controversial five-nation meet but the lone world record established was set by a 13-year-old Moscow girl in the 200-meter breaststroke. Although the meet was to have been a Little Olympics, with the best swimmers from five countries competing, the 40 Russians and the 14 U.S. athletes made up virtually the entire field. Only Russians and Americans won titles, with Soviet athletes taking the other four Saturday. Eight more events will be contested Sunday.

Umpires Are Needed To Get Cepeda Out

By The Associated Press
When Orlando Cepeda is in a hitting mood, only the umpires can get him out. The Cincinnati Reds weren't having much luck with the big St. Louis slugger Friday night until Umpire John Kibler interceded in the seventh inning of the Cardinals' 9-2 victory. Cepeda was called out on a close play at first base and when he argued over the call, Kibler tossed him out of the ball game.

Nicklaus Is Favored for PGA Crown

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Power-hitting Jack Nicklaus looks as an overwhelming favorite to capture the Professional Golfers' Association championship at the Firestone Country Club starting Thursday. That would give him a record-fourth of a 1966 grand slam.

The blond better from Columbus, Ohio, reached another pinnacle in his brief but illustrious golfing career by annexing the British Open July 8.

The "Golden Bear" already owns the Masters championship, but won't have a shot at the coveted slam. Billy Casper made certain of that by taking the National Open title three weeks ago in San Francisco.

Casper, the PGA's leading money-winner, is among the 170-man PGA field along with Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, and that calls for an automatic $50 fine.

Curt Flood led a 15-hit Cardinals attack with four safes June 10. He returned to the line-up June 24, and in the three weeks since then he's had 25 hits in 73 at bats — a .342 pace.

In addition to costing the Cardinals the game, Cepeda cost Cincinnati pitcher Sammy Ellis $50.

After Cepeda's second homer in the fifth inning, Ellis decked Mike Shannon with a pitch. Umpire Paul Pryor warned Ellis about the dust, and that calls for an automatic $50 fine.

Nichols' three-round total of 200, 13 under par, wrestled the lead from Jack Cupit, who shot a two-over-par 37 on the back nine Saturday and came in at 202.

Nichols was behind Cupit by three strokes at the start of the third round over Keller Golf course.

Third was Dan Sikes, who also shot a 66 Saturday for 203.

U.S. Open champion Billy Casper ballooned to a two-over 73 and shot up to 207 Saturday.

Brown Paces T. F. Over Nampa 9-4

Mack Brown had a perfect night at the plate Friday, hitting four singles in four times at bat, stealing five bases and scoring five runs to lead Twin Falls to a 9-4 victory over Nampa in an American Legion baseball game.

Brown got on base one other time on a walk, moving to third on two passed balls and coming home on a throwing error.

Gary Rasmussen went the distance for Twin Falls, holding Nampa to eight hits, four of those in the first inning when the visitors scored three runs.

In the third with three runs to overcome a 3-2 Nampa lead, Terry McNew led off with a double. Rasmussen doubled him home, staged in Rasmussen and Pabst singled to score Brown after a stolen base.

Twin Falls added two runs in both the seventh and eighth in plays to secure the victory.

Two Marks Fall In All-American Track, Field Tilt

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Track driver Ron Larrieu ran the fastest 10,000 meter race ever on American soil and Art Walker smashed his American triple jump record Saturday in the All-American Track and Field Meet.

The competition replaced the scheduled United States-Poland dual meet from which the Poles withdrew following the lead of the Russians. Larrieu, 29, from Santa Monica, Calif., went the grueling 10,000 meters, equivalent of six miles and 3761 yards, in 28 minutes, 54.1 seconds. The best previous on an American track was 29:18 by Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash.

The American record of 28:17.4 belongs to Billy Mills who ran in at Augsburg, Germany, last year.

Larrieu was dueling all the way with Van Nelson, a St. Cloud (Minn.) State College senior. Nelson went ahead with a mile to go but Larrieu's finishing sprint won out as the younger finished in 28:53.5, second fastest on an American track.

Walker leaped 54-7/8 in the event where Poland's Jozef Schmidt holds the world record at 55-10/8 set six years ago. Schmidt had not followed the lead of Russia, stating opposition to the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam, Walker and Schmidt would have met in Berkeley.

In addition to those of Larrieu and Walker, marks were set by Ed Red of Pasadena, Calif., with a 270-4 javelin throw; Al Carter, of New York, with 205-6 in the discus; Paul Wilson of Downey, Calif., and Bob Seagr, of Glendale, Calif., each with 16-8 in the pole vault; Pat Traynor, after track club of Long Beach, Calif., 8-47.2 in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, and the U.S. "A" 400 meter relay team, 3:01.

The 400-meter foursome of George Anderson, Harold Busby, Tom Jones and Jim Hines was only one-tenth second off the world record.

Charles Cooke, the 18-year-old speedster from Los Angeles, made a runaway of the women's 400-meter event in 55.5, four-tenths of a second off her pending American record.

Carlie Greene of Nebraska won the men's 100-meter dash in 10.3, with George Anderson of Southern University second at 10.4.

Walker's leap bettered his pending mark of 54-4/8. The All-American at the University of California's Edson Track Stadium substituted for the U.S.-Poland meet, which was canceled.

Poland's lead of the Russians, which pulled out of its meet with the Americans one day earlier, in protest of the United States' war effort in Viet Nam.

The women's 100 brought an upset. Eighteen-year-old Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles beat world record holder Wyoming Tyus of Tennessee State in 11.6.

Don Shy of San Diego State won the 110-meter high hurdles in 13.7. Tom White of the Southern California Striders took second at 13.9.

Lee Evans of San Jose State College captured the 400-meter dash in 46.7. Theron Lewis of Southern University finished second.

Native Diver Wins Second Gold Cup 'Cap'

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Native Diver wrote a brilliant chapter in turf history Saturday with a stunning victory for an unprecedented second straight year in the Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap.

The gelding made it a virtual wire-to-wire triumph, just as he did a year ago, in running away with the $102,100 winner's prize by open lengths of daylight.

The margin of victory was 4 1/2 lengths, with an English horse, O'Hara, second. A neck back in the last furlongs was Tom Orb.

Lightly regarded Peris jumped from the gate first in the 1 1/2-mile classic at Hollywood Park, but Jackie Jerry Lambert almost instantly went into the lead with Native Diver and was never threatened.

Smith, Wiechers In Meet Finals

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — College football stars Smith and Wiechers moved into the final of the Trans-Mississippi (T.M.) tournament by downing their semifinal foes in extra holes Saturday.

A Queney record was set when Smith, of Sacramento, Calif., defeated Bob Dickson of Muskegon, Okla., 1-0 with a pun on the 42nd hole.

In the short match of the day, Wiechers, of Alhambra, Calif., defeated John Murphy of Nicholls, Fla., on the 37th hole.

IT'S ALL FOR NOTHING as Willie Davis, Los Angeles Dodger center fielder, dives for the plate while New York Met catcher Jerry Grote grabs infield throw in the third inning Saturday at New York's Shea Stadium. Davis had attempted to score from third during an argument over a play at second, but umpires ruled time was out. Later in the inning, Davis was forced at home on a grounder by Tommy Davis to Met second baseman Ron Hunt, who fired to Grote for the out. Dodgers won 7-1. (AP wirephoto)

Sutton Stops New York 7-1 For Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Don Sutton pitched a five-hitter and John Roseboro got his second two-run homer in as many days as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 7-1 Saturday.

Outfielder Has Dream Come True

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Mel Queen says his chance to pitch as an outfielder's dream came true — and the former major league hurler's son made the most of his opportunity.

The 23-year-old right-hander pitched a perfect inning of relief Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals routed Cincinnati, 9-2, and the Reds' fans cheered every pitch he threw — less than a dozen in all.

"Almost any outfielder at this level would like to be a pitcher, especially when he's not hitting," Queen said later. "And I suppose a pitcher would feel like he'd be an outfielder when he gets out of the park."

"So far I like pitching, but then there's the question of how a fellow would feel with guys on base and then you suddenly would knock the ball out of the park," he added.

The Cardinals clouted the first four Cincinnati pitchers for a total of 19 hits and then interlocking Dave Bristol — who has promised some changes — sent in Queen who had just retired back to duty after four weeks on the sick list.

Charley Smith hit a little up near the plate and was thrown out. Dal Maxwell and Julian Javier both struck out to end the ninth.

"We might have found something," said Bristol, who took over the team Thursday after Don Hepler was fired. "It's time to get him out there and see what he'll do."

One of the reasons Queen, son of former Met Queen who pitched in the 1940s and 1950s, has been playing outfield is because of his strong throwing arm.

T.F. Nips Rupert, Mustangs Tip Jerome for Meet Crowns

RUPERT — Kevin Nelson and Cransbury hit back to back homers in the fourth inning for McClain's Vikings as the Twin Falls team took a 2-1 victory from the Rupert Bombers and the championship of the Little League tournament Saturday.

Rupert Mustangs, on homers by Larry Coffman and Bruce Hunsaker, dropped Jerome 4-2 to win the Pony League title. Consolation crowns went to the Rupert

Rangers in the Little League with a 16-5 win over Heyburn and Filer in the Pony League for an 8-5 victory over Twin Falls McClains.

The Bombers threatened only once after the score was 7-1. That was in the fifth when a Rupert player was thrown out at the plate to save the game for the Vikings. Adams was credited for the win and Tony Saris was named the loss.

Coffman's homers in the sixth was good for two runs for the Mustangs and Hunsaker's, of Brad Life was the winning pitcher and Cappy took credit for the loss.

Gary Walton collected the victory for Rupert while Heyburn's Mike Tremayne was named the loser.

Filer scored two runs in the last of the seventh on a homer by the catcher, Wageman, to drop McClains. Guy Ramsey was the winner and Astoria was pegged for the loss.

Sportsmanship trophies went to Ogden in the Pony League and Heyburn in Little League play.

Outstanding players were Gary Duncan of the Vikings in the Little League and Mark Taylor of Ogden in the Pony.

Both players were awarded a ball, but trophy by the First Security Bank and Idaho First National Bank.

The association passed a resolution opposing construction of Rampart Canyon Dam on the Yukon River in Alaska. Construction would destroy habitat for waterfowl, upland game birds and big game, including the habitat of at least 5,000 moose, the organization claimed.

Delegates also opposed legislation to enlarge the boundaries of the Grand Canyon National Park because such action would prevent recreational hunting and herd size control of the Kaibab deer herd.

...are vying for the Republican nomination of Twin Falls County commissioner in District 2, which will be left vacant this fall by Maurice Kinas. All three candidates have resided in Twin Falls for 20 years or more.

3 GOP Candidates Vying For County Commission Post

Three Republican candidates, William (Bill) Chancey, Elmo Lee and Mrs. Jane Adamson are vying for the Republican nomination of county commissioner in District 2, which will be left vacant this fall.

Incumbent Democrat Maurice Kinas said he does not plan to seek re-election.

All three candidates have resided in Twin Falls for 20 years or more, and they all have jobs in which they meet the public every day.

Lee is a barber, Mrs. Adamson is employed in a local women's clothing store, and Chancey owns a local service station.

Mrs. Adamson, during her years of employment, has worked with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has done research work for the head of the Agriculture Department, University of Idaho, worked for the Idaho State Tax Commission, and managed a military store for eight years.

Chancey was in Idaho State Police officer for many years prior to buying his gas station, and Lee has kept books for a tile company during the last 12 years, but says his main occupation is being a barber.

Lee, 57, was graduated from Shelley High School in 1928 and attended Heneegar's Business College in Salt Lake City. He married Nellie Jenkins, a nurse, at Idaho Falls in 1933 and came to Twin Falls that same year.

He then went into business and built a home at 228-B Lakes Blvd., where he and his wife still reside. He and his wife have two sons, both of whom live in Twin Falls.

Chancey was born in Missouri and attended schools there and in Iowa. He became a police officer during World War II. He has a wife and two children.

Mrs. Adamson was born in Utah and moved to Idaho with her parents in 1912. After her marriage to Joseph W. Adamson, they engaged in farming in the Moutaugh area until they moved to Twin Falls in 1921. She is the mother of eight children. Her oldest son, Lewis, was on Wake Island when World War II broke out and was one of the first casualties of the war.

Mrs. Adamson's political background has been with the Twin Falls Business and Professional views felt a woman and her views would be valuable in governing county affairs inasmuch as they deal with education, welfare and family problems.

She said, "I have always felt that with understanding, many people could be helped to help themselves. If elected, I will try to serve the people of Twin Falls County with honor, not for honor."

She said she thinks people should do all they can to improve their country, but should move ahead cautiously without fear of aid, whenever possible.

All three candidates have expressed the desire, if elected, to work in their office with the best interests of the majority.

Economic Crisis Grips Britain

LONDON (AP) — Britain is gripped by one of its worst economic crises in two decades, but it doesn't show.

This "swinging" island kingdom is enjoying full employment and steadily rising wages. Shops filled with foreign and domestic goods.

Night clubs and theaters and the latest import from the United States, the Playboy Club, are jammed. So are gambling casinos. Betting shops report business is fine and race tracks are crowded.

All the signs of booming prosperity are there.

And that's the problem Prime Minister Harold Wilson faces: how to bring home to the British people their dire economic straits.

Repeated appeals for a return to "The Spirit of Dunkerque" have gone unheeded and Wilson was forced to clamp down last week the tightest credit squeeze since World War II. But financial experts say it isn't enough.

Wilson warned the nation Thursday further drastic measures will follow shortly and said before leaving for Moscow Saturday that a "prepared package" will be presented when he returns Tuesday.

What's wrong?

Britain is a highly industrialized, trading nation. It depends for its living on the sale abroad of the product of its factories. But many "necessities" have been slow to modernize; workers have opposed installation of labor-saving machinery, and restrictive practices by management and union have become almost commonplace.

The result: prices of British goods have soared in an increasingly competitive world market.

At the same time the breakup of the old British Empire left this country with a host of military and economic assistance commitments around the world that cost Britain $1.4 billion a year—money that British industry is earning in ever-decreasing amounts.

And the British consumer's taste for foreign products has sharpened so that this nation is buying more than it is selling abroad.

Today Britain owes abroad the totality of its reserves of gold and convertible currency.

Wilson's ministers are working against time preparing a list of new measures to cut government expenses, especially overseas military; assure a better distribution of scarce skilled workers, cut demand and purchasing power at home, and foster exports.

Most experts agree, however, that what is needed most of all is a psychological shock bring home to the people the depth of the crisis.

Dr. George Saviers, Sun Valley, Friend of Hemingway, Returns From Viet Nam Tour

(Editor's Note: This story, concerning Dr. George B. Saviers, Sun Valley, was written by the Department of State especially for the Times-News. Dr. Saviers returned from Viet Nam only last week and is now back at his regular post at the Sun Valley Hospital.)

PHANG RANG, Viet Nam (Special)—There's half a world between Phanang and Sun Valley.

But it's a good bet that whatever took George B. Saviers to Spain in the late 1950's as doctor, friend and companion to the late Ernest Hemingway is the same thing that brought him to Viet Nam 20 years later as doctor and friend to the Vietnamese people.

As the 51-year-old physician himself explains the motivation for his latest adventure:

"Why did I come? Because the people needed help. Because I just wanted to do my bit."

As members of Project Viet Nam, Dr. Saviers and 159 others for service in the armed forces. Viet Nam is left with a scant 300 or so to care for a civilian population of between 15 and 16 million.

It is not an easy decision to volunteer for Project Viet Nam, for anyone who does have a lot to lose. It is not simply a matter of money, although the doctors receive no pay during their service. They get only transportation costs plus $10 a day living allowance, provided by AID, which also supplies their medical materials and some of their equipment. But, by their sheer absence from home, many volunteers run the risk of losing a practice which they have spent a decade or two building.

In this respect, Dr. Saviers is luckier than some in that he has a group partnership in Sun Valley, Idaho, where his wife, three sons and a daughter reside.

Other doctors have independent practices and are consequently less fortunate. There are other difficulties as well. Conditions are primitive as is equipment, if it exists at all.

Says Dr. Saviers, "Practicing medicine in Viet Nam versus practicing in the U. S. is the difference between night and day. You learn to make do with existing facilities and existing supplies."

The doctor, a general practitioner, explains that his 220-bed hospital in the Ninth Tamm provincial capital of Phan Rang went for six weeks without a workable X-ray machine, and once ran out of intravenous fluids for 10 days before "we scrounged some" from a nearby U. S. air base.

Then, too, neither the type of work nor the "office hours" could be considered

"stateside." Dr. Saviers, Vietnamese hospital chief Dr. Doan Trinh, five nurses and a handful of assistant nurses are solely responsible for 130,000 people.

There are no other civilian doctors or nurses in the province. In the hospital itself, they must supervise five wards (medical, pediatrics, surgery, obstetrics, and tuberculosis).

To complicate matters further, 34-year-old Dr. Trinh simply cannot be at the hospital full time because of his concurrent duties as provincial health officer.

Still a further difficulty arises from the average Vietnamese peasant's lack of medical understanding.

"During my two months in Phan Rang," Dr. Saviers explains, "I never saw anything but a ruptured appendix."

People seldom come to a hospital unless they are in danger of physical condition — and often not until it is too late.

Dr. Saviers makes little of his eight-to-five day at Phan Rang, including two hours of clinic work in the morning and an afternoon of surgery. Nor does he comment particularly on his hours in the evening, nor on the numerous night-time emergencies which the nurses are not experienced enough to handle. But he does speak in the highest terms of his superior, Dr. Trinh:

"That man is doing everything he can to help make a decent hospital. I must say he has done a hell of a job. And this in spite of the fact that he is also provincial health officer and must conduct a private practice to support his wife and two children."

The many obvious difficulties inherent in working with Project Viet Nam have scarcely served as a deterrent. The roster of applicants is over-subscribed. Before a recently introduced age limit of 55, one enthusiastic volunteer was 72-year-old Dr. William J. Shaw of Fayette, Mo.

With only 32 Project Viet Nam doctors in the country at any given time, 10 per cent of the 150 who have already served have applied to return. Two general practitioners Dr. Herschel Douglas of Lovington, N. Mex. and neurologist Dr. Joseph Frazekas of Washington, D. C. are back in Viet Nam serving on extended medical assignments.

Asked if he's glad he came, Dr. Saviers replies: "Yes, it is frustrating, even a bit depressing at times, but we can't help but leave something behind."

DR. GEORGE B. SAVIERS, Sun Valley, sits at his desk at the resort hospital and gets back into the more leisurely pace of work in Idaho after donating his services for two months working with the people of Viet Nam. As a member of Project Viet Nam, Dr. Saviers stepped in to aid the loss

Aerial Warfare Includes Shouting

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — "We don't use planes against the enemy in this month," the operations officer observed with a smile. "We just throw papers at them and shout at them."

"Sometimes it works," said Lt. Col. Joseph Hater of McDougal, Pa. "We're getting better at it all the time."

Hater's unit, the U.S. 5th Air Commando Squadron, devotes itself entirely to psychological warfare, known as psywar but called counter-insurgency warfare here.

Its mission is to persuade the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldier to give themselves up without a fight. Its principal weapons are leaflets and loudspeakers.

The squadron, commanded by Lt. Col. Clyde C. Angley, uses four C-47 twin-engine cargo planes and 10 of the new UH-1 light aircraft. This is a two-seat plane with a three-blade propeller and a high, long wing. It can take off and land in 300 feet. It has a loudspeaker amplifying system built in on one side.

The squadron is based in this central coastal city, but also operates out of Da Nang in the north, Pleiku in the Central Highlands and Dien Hoa near Saigon.

The squadron arrived last November and its planes, armed only with leaflets and tape recordings, have been hit 51 times. It has not lost any planes but two of its fliers have been wounded.

It flew 1,173 sorties in June, when it dropped 130 million leaflets and spent 275 hours in loudspeaker appeals.

How effective is this propaganda effort?

The 5th Squadron has no big claims. But it can reasonably share part of the credit for the increasing number of Communist giving up the fight. Some of these carry surrender leaflets.

Last November, the squadron's first month of operation, 1,500 came over from the Communist side. The figure has risen to about 2,300 per month.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, has ordered his field commanders to step up their psychological effort.

The 5th Air Commando Squadron sends up UH-1s in the midst of combat operations. It took part, for example, in operation Panther. While doing this U.S. cavalrymen, air cavalrymen and Marines engaged a North Vietnamese regiment of army regulars in a rugged mountain area. The UH-1s followed closely after. Airstrike, artillery and armor hit the entrenched North Vietnamese.

Capt. Donald Wakefield, from Waco, Texas, put in as many as four flights a day over enemy positions. In those flights of an hour to two hours each, he dropped surrender leaflets and swapped how to broadcast recorded appeals for the Communists to give up.

His broadcasts can be heard from 7,000 feet. But Wakefield usually drops to 2,000-3,000 feet to give the enemy a "maximum blast."

The UH-1 men make low-level flights over enemy positions at night.

Murtaugh Lake Facilities Planned to Provide Family Type Recreation Activities

MURTAUGH -- Murtaugh Lake, formed by water from an irrigation canal coming in at one end and finally finding its way out at the other, will someday be one of the main family fishing, water skiing and recreation areas in Idaho.

That is the opinion expressed by Elmer Annis, secretary of the Twin Falls County Waterways Committee, and Oliver Stewart, member at large of the same committee.

They inspected the area last week as one of the first steps in a program which will see continued improvement.

For many years the site has been a project of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association. With the approval of the Milner Lowlift Irrigation Co., owner of the land, a lease was transferred from the game association to the waterways committee.

The Southern Idaho group, for years, had cared for the area in question. During that period they fenced the area, gravelled the access road, constructed a boat ramp and several docks.

This last winter they constructed a safety barrier across the outlet which would prevent boats from being pulled from the lake by the current. Two men drowned in that area shortly before the barrier was constructed.

"We will continue the work of improvement which they started, and it is our hope that in the years to come this Murtaugh Lake recreation area will be the best in the state for use of family groups."

At present, the waterways group has completed leveling a large picnic area which will later be seeded to grass. Two outdoor toilets have been installed and the docks are being improved.

The picnic area is protected from flooding by a nearby dike, by construction of a dike which skirts the picnic section. The picnic area is shaded by large trees.

Under provisions of a $100,000 grant from the state, the waterways group will operate the area for recreational purposes. Plans are now under way for a group of girls from the Murtaugh section to operate a portable concession stand at the site weekends and on holidays.

One of the major problems which has come up in the area is litterbugging. Annis said that special containers will be placed in the hopes people will deposit their trash there.

"All we ask is that those people using the site should leave their camp as clean as they find it. If everyone cooperates then there will be no problem," he said.

Members of the waterways committee serve without pay and money for various expenses comes from the licensing of motor boats within the county. Various improvements have been made in various sections of the county, with the Murtaugh project being the newest one.

Committee members include Clarence Bybee, Castleford, president; Annis, Twin Falls, secretary; Gordon Young, Buhl; Oliver Stewart, Twin Falls, and Art Henry, Hansen, board members.

"The Murtaugh area has a great potential in the recreation field. With more and more people turning to recreation we are all sure that Murtaugh Lake will develop into one of the best areas easily available to all. It is ideal for family groups, offers easy fishing and boating as well as water skiing," Annis concluded.

PROTECTIVE SIDING which will prevent damage to boats was being installed at a rock dock at Murtaugh Lake when this picture was taken. A. Williams, left, kneeling, and J. P. Gallings, right, kneeling, continue the project as Oliver Stewart, left standing, and Elmer Annis, both members of the Twin Falls Waterways Committee, look on. (Times-News photo)

ELMER ANNIS, right, and Oliver Stewart, both members of the Twin Falls Waterways Committee, look over a new picnic area which has been cleared on the shore of Murtaugh Lake. This fall it will be seeded to grass and by next summer will be fully available for group use. Large logs have been placed so that automobiles cannot drive into the picnic grounds and a special ditch will eliminate flooding from a nearby lava field. (Times-News photo)

Dina Merrill Works Hard At Career

NEW YORK (AP)—Acting has often been described as an incurable virus. That's a cliché because it is so often true, and a clinical case history is that of Dina Merrill.

Miss Merrill, as most motion picture and television viewers know, is an attractive, blue-eyed blonde with a slight resemblance to Grace Kelly. As is also well-known, Miss Merrill, whose maiden name was Kennedy Hutton, has never started in a Greenwich Village walk-up or taken on part-time jobs in a department store for rent money.

Yet, without financial need, she has pursued a professional career with the same fervor and unflagging desire that moves all the great ones. At this moment, Miss Merrill is commuting from a summer house in Easthampton, Long Island, to midtown Manhattan—a long, hot trip—twice a week for her Shakespeare study class.

"I always study when I'm not working," she explained over a luncheon of chicken and iced tea. "Going to class is the way a performer keeps his skills sharp."

This passion for acting appeared when she was in her early teens and, in spite of her family's hope that she would "grow out of it," she never did. Dina's father was this E. F. (Ned) Hutton, a member of the socially and financially eminent clan that includes Barbara Hutton, a cousin. Her mother, now Mrs. Herbert May, was the daughter of William Post, the cereals king, and is one of the richest women in the world.

Dina Merrill is an extremely well-organized woman who manages to combine successfully several different lives.

She is the mother of three teenage children, and by next fall, all three will be away at prep school. She has an active social life in New York. Her off-home is in an East Side apartment maintained by two in-help and a secretary. She is busy with a real involvement in a number of charities, several connected with the theater. She is also able to pick up at a few hours' notice for television or screen assignments in Hollywood or, in this jet set, almost anywhere in the world.

Her 19-year-old marriage to Stanley M. Rumbough Jr. wound up about a year ago with a friendly but legal separation. The couple still spend holidays with their children.

Miss Merrill is unusual in the way she is not interested in running herself down to a long-running Broadway show, and would never accept a continuing part in a television series. "I would absolutely hate it if I were stuck playing one part for five years in television," she said with a shrug. "I don't think of nothing more stultifying for an actor. Five years is a lifetime for an actor and it certainly does something to his image."

"Besides," she added slyly, "the really good parts in most series are the ones the guest stars get."

The impact of television was demonstrated on an occasion when she had an eight-minute scene in a Playhouse 90 adaptation of "The Time of Your Life." Immediately afterward she received three good motion picture offers.

John Anthony Is Judge in TV Program

By DON THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Mr. Anthony, I've got a problem." For most men, such a plea is a prelude to a recital of family trouble which Mr. Anthony would then analyze before millions of radio listeners. The pious became American, saying and it still is, though John J. Anthony, has not been heard by a national audience for a dozen years.

He is very much alive and at 63 is entering a brand new career as an actor. Recently the makers of "Divorce: American Style" were casting the role of the judge who tries to arbitrate the differences between Debbie Reynolds and Dick Van Dyke. Reconsidering the long-time family counselor of the air, one of the men suggested: "Why don't we get Mr. Anthony?"

The Columbia casting department had no idea where Anthony was. The TV-radio actor's union was queried, and he was located in his home a few miles away. As expected, he proved a perfect type for the role.

"I'm having the time of my life," he commented of his career. "I'm just kicking myself because I didn't try it sooner." Seduced has Hollywood performed such a perfect piece of eye-casting. With his neat appearance and calm, reassuring manner, Anthony looks exactly like a—well, a Mr. Anthony. He hastily denies any pretensions of omniscience and wisdom.

"There are many problems without any solutions," he commented. "The very act of living often solves problems. At any rate, I've never been certain that all problems should be solved. Life

Young Singer Making Good In TV Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A ministerial student realizes that preaching appeals to the him in him — and becomes a ballad and rock singing star.

A New York model does lip-stick in television commercial. A Hollywood producer sets the commercial and summons her for a screen test. Her Hollywood stars her with John Wayne and Robert Mitchum.

The singer is John Davidson, 24, boyish, handsome host-star of NBC-TV's "Summer Music Hall." The ex-$50,000-a-year model-Charlene Hooton's talented young; by no means the entire field, but representative.

Top stars of tomorrow? Some of them could be. None is a novice.

Says Dick Kallman, 26, of television, "Hank" movies, including one just made with Sandra Dee and George Hamilton, and theater, "How to Succeed in 600 performances; 'Half a Sixpence,' upcoming; 'I like to say I'm an over-night sensation — but it's been a long night.'"

Best known of the lot is Barbara Parkins of "Peyton Place," starting her third year on the television series. She has brown eyes, red-brown hair, an elegant complexion and 5-foot-5 figure but won't let her measurements. "That's silly. Anybody can see I'm well developed."

Born in Vancouver, B.C., she started dancing lessons at 11. "I was happiest when I was dancing," she came to Los Angeles in 1956 to demonstrate at a national dancing convention and, with her widowed mother, decided to stay. She studied with a drama group, got into television roles, then the part of sexy Betty Anderson on "Peyton Place."

They were going to write me out after 11 episodes," Barbara recalls. "But then I understood they saw an excitement in the character and decided to continue me."

Charlene Holt, 27, is tall — 5 feet 8 — and measures 20-25-32. She has brown eyes, reddish-brown hair. She was born in Allentown, Pa., and started clothes-modeling at a Dallas department store, in New York she attended drama school at a top-pay model.

She did television commercials for Hooton, cars, detergent, hair spray, wine, garden tools, cigarettes ("and I don't smoke") and soft drinks ("standing on skis — and I don't ski").

Producer Howard Hawks, covered of Carole Lombard, Rita Hayworth, Lauren Bacall and Joan Collins, spotted Charlene, demonstrating Hooton on his home screen and cast her as Rock Hudson's fiancée in "Man's Favorite Sport." Since then she has done "Redline about a countess and Will Doreau."

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

When a determined group of men combine their talents and time, they usually accomplish more than they believe possible. This is the case of the DECLO Kiwanis Club, whose members have undertaken quite a project in building and maintaining a park site for the Declo community. Last year, a lot was purchased, to begin the tedious task of removing trees, rocks, and a fireplace and moving-in dirt-to-level the ground. Many of the Kiwanians have donated much time, hand labor and machinery, under the direction of Joe Gillett, chairman of the committee.

The park, which will be called Kiwanis Park, will eventually have tables, shelters and fireplaces and be completely landscaped.

Recently, Anthony Horne, a horticulturist from the University of Idaho, came to Declo to consult with the committee regarding the most attractive and adaptable shrubs and trees for the site.

Just one of the original trees has been left standing. It is a majestic pine, which was planted in 1930 by Hyrum Lewis, early day Declo pioneer.

A retaining wall will be added on the north and east of the lot.

Frenchmen Love American Comics, See Them as Expression of Pop Art

PARIS (NEA)—One aspect of the conservative French Academy, newspaper pundits, singers and business tycoons, their chief adviser is Alain Resnais, avant-garde filmmaker, who has been a student of the comic strip for years and owns one of the finest collections of cartoons in Europe.

So much so that the French Center for the Study of Literature of Graphic Expression (CELEG) for the initials has recently announced its purpose to "defend the physical and moral integrity of the comic strip against the barbarian prejudice which refuses to admit it as a major form of art."

Giff-Will, the Center's magazine, asks, "What is the difference between the comic strip in the Grail and the Tarzan, Lord of the Jungle?"

As further argument, it stresses the fact that the comic strip is the only form of expression reaching a wider audience than television. One comic, for instance, is estimated to have some 12 million readers. On the artistic level, Giff-Will poses the question: "Is it possible to deny the affinity between the sculpture of Michelangelo and Tarzan's noble, writhing, muscular torso in mortal combat with a panther?"

A Giff-Will, incidentally, is a small, amphibious cross between a cat and a fish. It would be easy to domesticate except that it lives on precious stones. C.E.L.E.G.'s membership includes professors of the Faculty of Science and the National Research Center, a member of the conservative French Academy, newspaper pundits, singers and business tycoons, their chief adviser is Alain Resnais, avant-garde filmmaker, who has been a student of the comic strip for years and owns one of the finest collections of cartoons in Europe.

The appearance in France of the comic strip, according to a distributor, goes back to the beginning of the century. But it began to be widely featured in the Paris press between the two World Wars.

Today many papers carry anything from half or entire pages of comic strips. Some are French but the majority, and certainly the most popular, are American. Alley Oop, Dick Tracy, Peanuts, Popeye, Tarzan, Superman and Batman are household names.

Giff-Will explains that if, in 1895, movies were heralded as the art of the 20th century, cartoons are definitely that of the 21st century.

The popularity of American cartoons is attributed to the fact that they are first, more prolific and, secondly, designed to appeal to adults—and not to children, as do their French counterparts.

One of CELEG's main worries is that the comic strip is constantly exposed to fickle blue-pencil by publishers or deskmen whose pleasure is to mutilate, alter and stifle cartoon characters.

"They delete words such as

"Rat flink" from the balloon, remove the sexual curve from a lady's bosom or cover her legs with a skirt. In addition, the Educational Vigilance Commission, by virtue of a law passed in 1945, bans all strips portraying violence and bloodshed from children's magazines and weeklies.

Along with the comics, French newspapers have introduced the daily illustrated strip serializing famous literary works and novels. More recent is the serialization of the Bible. For Frenchmen who have not had the benefits of higher education, this has proved an attractive means of boning up on history and the great literary works.

For Douglas, who was divorced last June 24, it was his fourth marriage. It was his bride's first.

Silver said he was told the newlyweds intended to honeymoon in the Pacific Northwest.

Local Air Force Major Was Licensed Pilot Before He Drove Family Auto

Maj. Edward H. Butts Jr. had been a licensed pilot for a year before his father would let him get a driving permit to operate the family car.

It all came about because his father was an aircraft sales and service operator at Channeville, Fla. By the time he reached the age of 13 years, young Edward could fly a plane but the federal government prohibited solo flight until he was 16 years old.

By the time he reached legal solo age he had so many hours that he also was granted a private pilot license.

"Then dad and I didn't see eye to eye. I thought that I should be permitted to drive the family car. He thought it wasn't safe. I guess, and so I was 17 years old before he let me take the test which permitted me to drive," Maj. Butts laughs.

Since that first solo when he was 16, Maj. Butts has amassed a total of more than 8,000 hours as a pilot and has flown everything from eight-engine jets—the biggest military planes built—to planes with no engines at all, namely seaplanes.

A regular air force officer he retires from the service on July 31 after a stint of more than 30 years. As a pilot he has fought in two of this nation's wars and participated in the famed Berlin Air Lift. The two wars were World War II and the Korean conflict.

In June, 1962, he was assigned to Twin Falls as Air Force-Civil Air Pair Liaison officer. Just prior to the assignment here he was chief of operations for heavy aircraft at Chanute Air Force base in Chanute, Kan. On his retirement he will be associated as a broker with Western Life Insurance Co. in Twin Falls and will also continue his flying as an executive pilot. He will be associated in the insurance business with Jess Lowman.

The major completed his grade and high school education in "Jacksonville." In high school he lettered in varsity football as an end.

"Looking back I recall that I was tall enough and tipped the scales at about 175 pounds. Today I'm still tall but weigh 235 pounds. Boy, what I could have done with the weight I have now in the games I played then," he said.

Most of his spare time was spent at the airport where, in addition to flying, he became expert in the mechanical end of flying.

He completed high school and with the war in progress decided to submit to a college equivalent examination in the written tests and so was sent to Susquehanna University, Pennsylvania, where he took a general college course before being transferred to pilot training school. He graduated in June, 1944, as a second lieutenant at Chanute AFB, Georgia.

For a few months after that he was a multi-engine instructor after which he entered B-24 long-range bomber training. Then he was ordered to the European theater of operations where he served with 15th Air Force, a special mission organization. Before the war ended he flew 10 missions over enemy territory, many of them at night.

He returned to the United States and was a duty pilot in various aircraft at Ft. Sumner, New Mexico. It was then he requested reserve duty status and returned to college in Florida.

When the Berlin Airlift got under way he requested a return to active duty and flew C-54s for six weeks aiding in carrying all foodstuffs and other articles—even coal—into Berlin despite the Russian blockade.

"What with the weather and heavy traffic I'm sure all the pilots earned their money while on the airlift," he said.

Coming back to Roswell, N. M., he served as flight line executive officer in the Strategic Air Command.

In April, 1950, he was transferred to Okinawa where he based while flying as a combat rescue pilot. After 18 months of

MAJ. EDWARD H. BUTTS JR.

Korean War duty he returned to the United States in January, 1952.

He was sent to Chanute AFB once more and was technical instructor for the next 10 years. This was followed by various assignments in California, Arizona, Washington and then two years service in Japan. It was there he met his wife to be and they were married in 1958. They came back to the States in 1959 and then two children at 541 years service in Japan. It was there he met his wife to be and they were married in 1958. ## Flying Lions

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — "Have three lions in the cockpit," the excited German pilot of a plane bound for London shouted over the radio to the control tower Friday.

Indeed he did—almost. He felt something sniffling at his leg. He looked down and there was this lion-cub. He looked over his shoulder and saw two adult lions walking out of their cages.

While the copilot held back the lions with an ax, the pilot made an emergency landing at Brussels. Antwerp zoo experts grabbed the cub and, with nets and ropes, guided the two adult lions back into their cages.

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Two former Nazi SS officers were sentenced Friday to life in prison for their roles in the murders of 28,000 to 40,000 Gypsies in Nazi-occupied Poland.

Former SS Maj. Herman Mueller, 55, head of the Nazi Security Service in Ternopol during World War II and former SS Capt. Paul Raebel, 60, wartime aide to Mueller, were found guilty of murder and aiding and abetting murder.

The sentencing climaxed a nine-month trial.

SPAWNING TIME TABLE DIFFERENCES are the best means of keeping tabs on Idaho's three groups or races of chinook salmon. Most fishermen don't know them apart — and care less. Here John R. ("Dick") Woodworth, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department, points out extended and hooked lower jaw of male salmon from this year's spring run of chinooks to Jack Eaton, Tolson, who caught it on Marsh Creek. It measured 47 inches, and weighed close to 40 pounds when caught. Since both spring and summer groups of chinook salmon now are in Idaho, and the summer run is not large enough to provide spawning and sports fishing, an emergency closure of all salmon fishing in the Salmon River and its tributaries is effective July 17 at midnight to protect all summer run fish.

Explaining Right to Fish Is Big Job For Oregon and Washington Fisheries

By JIM HUMPHREY
Idaho Fish Game Department
BOISE — Fisheries management agencies of Oregon and Washington are faced with the big job of explaining why it has all right to fish for spring-run chinook salmon this year, but not for summer-run fish. Idaho has the same problem. Effective at midnight on July 17, all chinook salmon fishing in the Salmon River and its tributaries ends.

The decision by Oregon and Washington not to fish for summer-run chinooks was made last spring, long before events forced Idaho to the same conclusion. It banned all commercial, sports and Indian angling for these fish.

Oregon and Washington based the order for complete closure on the fact that sampling of fish at the mouth of the Columbia River showed that the summer-run would be below average. Idaho took the same stand after fish counts at Ice Harbor Dam on the lower Snake River led to the conclusion that the summer chinook run at that point would not be more than 15,000 fish, and probably much less.

Last year, complete protection of all chinook salmon that came to Idaho was ordered because there was not enough for both sports fishing and seeding the spawning beds. The total number of summer chinooks over Ice Harbor Dam was 14,700 fish.

This year's run is expected to be about the same. A sale number that will allow both fishing and spawning won't be reached and the emergency closure order was necessary.

Idaho records show that spring chinook salmon generally do not reach the Lemhi River, a tributary of the main Salmon River, until October. Several coastal streams support runs as late as November and early December.

Now the fisheries division of the Oregon Game Commission has just put out a long news feature pointing out the differences between the three groups of chinook salmon that use Pacific Northwest streams for spawning.

"Spring, summer and fall chinook look much alike when they enter the river," the Oregon release says. "Most people can't tell the difference — nor want to. The angler is after salmon and its exact race makes no matter."

"The only way the game commission fishery biologists can tell one run from another is by the time 'tag' between the end of one run and the start of the next. Each run is geared to a definite, time schedule in its migration to the spawning beds. Runs do overlap to some extent, but each is marked by a peak migration period."

"Some runs arrive well ahead of the spawning time, spending the 'waiting in' period in deep resting pools near the nursery beds. Others, such as the fall run, rush heading to upstream gravel and begin digging the spawning nests immediately upon arrival."

"In the Columbia, we have three runs of chinook salmon: spring, summer and fall. There are subruns within each run, each one destined for a particular spawning stream or tributary. Although co-mingling during the migration, each subrace separates out of the pack as it reaches its destination."

"Spring chinooks are the early migrants, beginning their upstream journey as early as February and extending into May. The peak of the run comes in April at any time during this period, but it usually moves through the Bonneville area in April."

All three of Idaho's chinook salmon runs are in trouble because of losses to adult fish during the long river passage over dams of the Columbia and Snake rivers. And losses to young downstream migrants are staggering, perhaps as much as 10 per cent at each dam. But the spring run of fish appears to be holding up the best.

Spring chinook salmon so far are doing better in the struggle for survival, returning two adult fish to the spawning beds for each one that successfully runs the hazardous gauntlet to the ocean. Summer chinooks are barely holding their own on a one-for-one ratio.

Records show a downward trend for at least the past eight years. For example, last year the summer-run was well below the predicted number, and the escapement for spawning would have been much lower, except for the emergency closure which banned all fishing.

Many millions of dollars have been spent by electric power companies and the federal and state governments over the past few years for the conservation of migratory fish. Some of the causes for declining spawning runs are known, or still being analyzed. Others are unknown.

Estimated values of the Columbia River commercial fishery go as high as $8 to $10 million dollars a year. This does not count the related economic activity it generates, which probably amounts to about $50 million.

But the value of the salmon sport fishery as a recreational resource — especially to Idaho — at a time when more millions are being spent on husband other recreational resources, is incalculable.

Church Team Sets Program At Shoshone

SHOSHONE—The International Team of Azusa Pacific College, Azusa, Calif., will present a program at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the local First Baptist church, according to announcement by Rev. Paul Winkler.

The international team is a versatile group, presenting a varied program of music and an up-to-date picture of some of the world's "hot spots" as well as a challenge to Christian dedication and service. The team will travel across the United States this summer on a 10-week tour.

Minh Phang, Dalat, South Viet Nam, is a national missionary with the Christian Missionary Alliance, working in the tribal district of Dran Valley, north of Saigon. Minh will give a detailed insight into the current situation of the Christian church in South Viet Nam.

From E. Cebu, Philippines, comes Susana Siao. She is a trained mezzo soprano and will present special music during the service. One of the featured numbers will be the 2nd Psalm in the Mandarin dialect of the Chinese language.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

SQUASH NOTES: If this is your first experience at growing squash, better keep in mind that the fruit should be picked while still young and tender. Keeping the vines picked will make them continue to produce all summer. Here's a new squash recipe you might want to try. A reader guarantees the whole family will enjoy it.

Grate or blend one or two soft-skinned crook-neck or straight squashes, add 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 or 2 teaspoons of baking powder, 2 eggs for each squash, 1/4 cup of milk, 1/2 cup of oil, 1/2 cup of flour (depending upon amount of squash). Note: If old or squashes are used, milk will be needed with young ones, very little. Mix everything together for a pancake batter, and fry as pancakes. Serve with jelly or syrup on medium heat.

Friends, keep on sending me your recipes. Meanwhile, if you would like a copy of my column, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope. I'll send you a copy of my column, and you can keep it for a year. I'll send you a copy of my column, and you can keep it for a year. I'll send you a copy of my column, and you can keep it for a year.

ANT HILLS: Sometimes ants will build a hill right in a lawn or picnic area. Several means have been used to get rid of them. Dusting dieldrin or chlordane in the area, driving a plow down the center of the ant hill to a depth of 12 inches, and in a couple of days, add a carbon bisulphide (don't breathe it) are two common ways for fighting ants.

Seal the hole with a couple stomps with your foot, and cover with a piece of wet burlap. If an ant hill is out in the open you can pour gasoline into the hole and light it. Scattering chlordane or dieldrin around the area is a lot safer. Once the ants walk on the chemicals they are killed.

JAPANESE YEW: This is the queen of the evergreens, and in some areas the queen is in trouble. Yews are being attacked by mealy bugs. Those cottony masses you see in the twigs are mealy bugs and they need attending to. Take a piece of burlap in your hand, and squish the cottony masses thoroughly. Then spray the area where they've been, using insecticide. Mealybugs are covered over them and often pesticide will roll right off. Mashing their colonies by hand is the way to get rid of them. (This kills many of the pests so they are vulnerable to sprays.)

Fellowing of the inside foliage (and shedding) is not a serious problem right now. Usually it's a natural thing so don't worry. Water your evergreens thoroughly, and give them a good dose of seaweed, peatmoss, etc., to trap moisture in the soil and to encourage root growth.

LILACS: If you want to give your friends a lilac bush, now's a good time to do it. Just take a spade and dig up one of the suckers found at the base. Dig it up with a piece of root attached, and plant it in a hole with some peatmoss added. Keep the bush watered and it will come along fine. Plants started from suckers will bear flowers exactly like those of the parent plant.

PETUNIA TROUBLES: What would take chunks out of the leaves and blossoms of petunias? Many asked me this question. It's a night-viburnum which does the damage. This pest is particularly fond of petunias, probably because a petunia bed is damp and it harbors snails.

CONTROL: Scatter some metaldehyde baits (found in garden centers) beneath the plants. Snails have a weak spot in this material and it makes quick work of them once they've had access to it.

PLANT LABELS: A reader told us recently that she had plant labels from pieces of aluminum saved from TV dinners. Cut up small strips about 2 1/2 inch wide and about 3/4 inch long. Made of thin aluminum, these can be embossed with ordinary lead pencil, just as you'd write on an ordinary sheet of paper.

Another suggestion sent me consists of taking a piece of oil cloth and cutting these into narrow strips. With crayon or pencil you can write on this side, and this lasts for many years. A small slit can be made on one end to permit looping the label around a branch of house plants, shrubs or trees.

STARTING PINES: A reader writes: "My father told me at the tender age of 10 that if you took a branch off a pine tree and stuck it into a potato and planted it, the pine would grow. The pine did grow and we even had some potatoes which were enjoyed."

Green Thumb Note: Many gardeners start roses, trees and shrubs by sticking a cutting into a big fat potato and burying it in the soil. The cutting remains above soil, and is nursed along by the potato which usually rots eventually.

VEGETABLE PESTS: Home gardeners are confused when it comes to selecting the right chemical for fighting insects and diseases of vegetables. If you're in doubt, use an all-purpose mixture. This comes at least containing a fungicide such as zineb, mancozeb, or captan, and a good insecticide such as malathion, sevin, meth-

Moose Spotted

BOSTON (AP)—The mystery moose of Massachusetts has been spotted again and conservationists think he may now head a family of three.

And that's a mass of moose for Mass.

A bull moose and a cow have been seen together a few times in the Acton-Needham area during the past week.

Thursday night Hans Van Leeuwen of the Conservation Department and his son-in-law saw the bull moose alone.

Jim Shepard, state fish and game director, said the cow is probably hauled off somewhere with a calf. This is the calving season for moose.

"Any moose in Massachusetts is an oddity," Shepard said, "and I hope people stay out of the area and don't bother them."

First letter this week comes from Mrs. E. D. Filer, and reads as follows: "I have been told that one dollar bills printed in Dallas in 1963 with the No. 11 and the letter K on them were collector's items. Is this true?"

Answer: I would personally like to meet with the person who continually circulates stories such as these without having the knowledge necessary to know whether such a story is true or not. This same question has arisen three times in the past year. The answer is definitely No!—these notes have no more value than any other Federal Reserve Bank note.

Dallas was the first Federal Reserve Bank, hence the No. 1 and the designation of "A"—the first letter of the alphabet. Progressively, as new Federal Reserve Banks were formed, they were numbered in sequence, and designated by number and letter in the alphabet. All notes printed for the Bank in Dallas are numbered 11, and carry the "K" designation. None of the new $1.00 federal reserve notes are scarce.

Magic Tricks Are Hard to Film on Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rainbow-colored smoke, shirts which float out of the automatic washer and all ironed and folded; row-sawed pine trees that wave and blow in the wind.

Such special effects on "I Dream of Jeannie" are my unenviable job as producer. To the American viewing public, Barbara Eden is the moving force behind the strange things happening. Although Barbara is a superb talent, she is no magician.

The magic is the result of neither Barbara's acting ability nor my gimmicks. Producer-writer Sidney Sheldon dreams up the tricks we're expected to stage successfully.

Since the show goes to color this fall, we decided that her emergence from the genie bottle should be in colored smoke, instead of last year's old garden variety gray.

Out came the dry ice machine, the fans to blow the smoke, and the bright colored lights across which it must flow, from lavender to green to royal blue. It took days of experimentation. Finally Barbara was summoned in her genie outfit to shoot the rainbow-colored smoke. Everything went beautifully—with one exception. I forgot that chiffon burns pants.

Exposed to the moist, colored smoke, would shrink. And they did—right up to mid-thigh. There was no solution for that. The folded shirts, which it must blow from the machine, are a simple matter of well-manipulated puppet wire—with me up on a catwalk above the machine. The rapid changes of clothes effected by Jeannie and her astronaut master, Tony Nelson—costar Larry Higgsman—are a matter of stopping action for a quick change of clothes, assuming the same pose and continuing with the story line.

My training as an electronics engineer comes in handy every day. One of the tricks set for a full episode, "My Master, the Pirate," calls for Larry, Barbara and a guest player to escape from a pirate ship by rowboat. When the pirates give chase and are about to capture them, the rowboat takes off swiftly across the lagoon.

I was asked to put the caper on this by having the rowboat travel up on the beach where a leaning palm tree straightens up, permitting the rowboat to disappear into the jungle foliage. Shooting the scenes gave us a grueling morning, during which a small tractor on shore, attached to underwater cables pulling the rowboat—continually moved the cue.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

During 1965 the Mint has produced 7.2 billion coins. Stop and think about that figure. If one person had to count this production, it would take him 230 years.

For a clincher—the Mint expects to double that production for 1966 to more than 14 billion coins, and when the new mint goes into production in Philadelphia, they will be using modern, high speed machinery—so there is no limit to what their production might be in another year.

(Questions on coins and currency should be sent to the Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho.)

"We play a lot of eerie, spooky noises," Wakefield remarked. "Even if they don't surrender, it keeps them up all night. And it makes them unhappy at the same time. All this."

Another UO mission involves dropping leaflets for several days prior to B52 bomber raids. These leaflets urge civilians to leave the target area before the bombers arrive.

Still another mission involves leaflets urging villagers to turn in Viet Cong guerrillas who may be in their areas. These leaflets offer rewards for information.

"A major theme of the leaflets is that the Viet Cong are losing. One leaflet, in Vietnamese, reads: 'The Viet Cong and their clique cannot stay forever in this portion of land. They have to face the heavy fire power of the allied forces. In addition, the Viet Cong armed forces have planes, mortar artillery and other weapons. These forces will continue until victory will be ours and the defeat will be the Viet Cong. Other leaflets are straggling. They offer soldiers good treatment if they present themselves to allied forces.'

Motorcycle-Car Crash Reported

Twin Falls' rash of motorcycle-car accidents continued Thursday when Philip L. Emerson, 20, Paul, was slightly injured about 12:30 p.m. in a motorcycle accident at Blue lakes, Boulevard North and Falls Avenue.

Police said the accident occurred as David Ortel, 17, Twin Falls, began to make a left hand turn in his 1955 Pontiac. When he was half way through the turn Emerson, driving a Honda cycle, ran into the side of Ortel's vehicle. Police said Emerson was thrown over motorcycle and into the side of Ortel's car.

Emerson was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance where a source said he only received minor injuries and was released after treatment.

Police said no citations would be issued.

Fish and Game Hatchery Production To Double, but Not Boost Labor Costs

BY JIM HUMBIRD

Idaho Fish-Game Department BOISE — How many times Idaho Fish and Game Department is going to double its hatchery production without boosting labor costs in the same degree makes a good progress report.

Two big new hatcheries will produce a million pounds of steelhead trout smolts a year for release into Idaho streams to begin the long migration through the Columbia River system to the Pacific Ocean.

Idaho's 14 existing state-owned hatcheries have a combined yearly production of just over a million pounds of fish. Present hatchery staffing calls for 30 employees, not counting for equipment operators.

One of the new steelhead hatcheries will need a three-man crew, beginning July 1, 1966, and the other must have 16 men when built in the fall of 1968.

Niagara-Springs hatchery in the Snake River complex of state, federal and commercial installations near Twin Falls, is slated to begin operations this month. It was built by Idaho Power Co. to relocate steelhead trout blocked in the Hells Canyon sector of the Snake River by three hydroelectric dams.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department will have the responsibility for operating the Niagara Springs hatchery facilities. The annual capacity will be 200,000 pounds of yearling steelhead trout measuring 7½ inches long and going eight fish to the pound. The 1,600,000 steelhead smolts will be the "cream" from some 3.2 million eggs taken from adult fish at the Oxbow salmon hatchery and "eyed up" at that station.

Paul Cuplin, state hatchery supervisor, says the Fish and Game Department and Idaho Power Company are going "all out" to transfer the mid-Snake steelhead run to the Pahlsmeyer River, a tributary of the Salmon River, by means of the hatchery route. The Snake River run has been blocked in recent years by the construction dams.

Beginning this month, the Niagara Springs steelhead hatchery is a going concern. Eyed eggs from Oxbow were "farmed out" to four hatcheries for incubation and rearing to fry stage while the new hatchery was being completed this spring.

Now small fry must be transferred to Niagara Springs from hatcheries at Hagerman (both federal and state installations), Eagle (state), and Enterprise (Oregon Game Commission).

The other steelhead hatchery, to be started next year by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and operated by the Idaho Fish and Game Department, is being built to take care of the steelhead trout that would normally spawn in the North Fork of the Clearwater River near Dworshak Dam. Having an annual capacity of 840,000 pounds of steelhead, it will be one of the largest fish hatcheries in existence.

However, it will take this hatchery two years to produce the first steelhead smolts for release in the North Fork of the Clearwater because of cold water temperatures and other factors that slow down fish growth.

Young steelhead trout at Niagara Springs will eat dry, pelleted fish feed mixed to rigid specifications of the Idaho open formula diet, which was developed by the Department. Hatchery fish prosper on it, staying healthy and growing fast.

Feeding at both places will be done semi-automatically by means of moving platforms that scatter dry pellets over every surface inch of all raceways containing fish.

For example, each of the 14 big raceways at Niagara Springs will have individual feeders. Electrically driven, they travel the length of the raceways, distributing pellets through gravity fall onto a rotating propeller. Each feeder is loaded by means of a conveyor system at the end of the raceways. A bulk feed system eliminates sacked feed handling.

The feeding platform also will push crowders down individual raceways as needed, thus mechanizing the job of sorting and loading fish without handling them. A vacuum pump handling system will be used to sort fish by size, or to load them into tanker trucks for hauling to the Pahlsmeyer for release in March and April of each spring. Cuplin says he hopes that being untouched by human hands will prevent the loss of scales and slime that sometimes causes trout to die.

Dworshak hatchery will have an overhead feeding and crowding platform with labor-saving devices with striking similarities to the one at Niagara Springs. Many problems are quite different and answers have been worked out in other ways.

One which cannot be changed is water quality and temperature. Niagara Springs has abundant water flows with constant temperature of 59 degrees. This is ideal for fish growth and lops off a full year in the fresh-water cycle of steelhead trout. Smolts will be about one year old when they are released in the Pahlsmeyer River to begin their downstream migration. Young steelhead that have hatched from eggs spawned naturally by parent fish need two years to reach this stage of growth.

On the other hand, water temperatures at Dworshak steelhead hatchery will swing from very cold in winter to warm in summer — and muddy during runoff periods — until the reservoir behind the new dam is filled five years from now.

Then the hatchery water temperature will level off from 38 degrees to 52 degrees. Cuplin says steelhead trout hatched at Dworshak will need two years of growth to reach smolt size of 7½ inches, instead of just one year at Niagara Springs.

What happens to Niagara Springs smolts that begin migrating to the ocean one year after hatching instead of the usual two years required to reach that stage in the wild?

Probably nothing, Cuplin says that the fresh-water steelhead cycle will have been speeded up by one year but that these same fish should spend the same amount of time in the salt water cycle of the Pacific Ocean as always.

Record-Noted WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production rose in June to another record, the Federal Reserve Board reported Friday.

The board said its index of industrial production rose to 155.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average during June, up eight-tenths of a point of May's level.

However, the rate of gain slowed down.

Australian Tells Stories About Fellow British Heads

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia has revealed a bit of himself to his fellow prime ministers in Britain have done in more relaxed moments, such as kicking off their shoes and chatting—or improving (?) on a Rembrandt.

Holt was guest of honor at a White House luncheon Thursday. Afterward in replying to a toast by President Johnson he was in a storytelling mood. He had come here Wednesday from London and conferences with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

"Last Sunday night at Chequers," Holt related, "that historic establishment of British prime ministers, after his wife and mine had left us for the evening, he kicked his shoes off and lay down on a couch and for three hours we settled the problems of the world."

Holt said he told Wilson that Johnson had been so generous with him he felt he had been asked for it. The President gladly would have given him the Statue of Liberty. He said Wilson asked him, "Why didn't you ask him for Ft. Knox?"

Earlier in the evening, the Australian visitor said, Wilson

"It is a wonderful picture, of course, greatly celebrated and beautifully painted," Holt said.

"When Winston Churchill was prime minister, Holt said, he used to study the Rembrandt."

"He was, as you know, an amateur painter," the prime minister said. "In fact, I think he was almost a professional painter by the fees he got toward the end."
